If I had the wings of a Sparrow,
If had the arse of a Crow.
I'd fly over Cambridge tomorrow and shit on that B@stard Bellow.

Shit on, shit on,
I'd shit on that B@stard Bellow Bellow.
Shit on, shit on,
I'd shit on that B@stard Bellow.

Simon “B@stard” Bellow

I have just been informed via Jack (Simon's son) that B@stard has just died (21 Dec 2023)! This is a bit of a shock to us all. He was in hospital under treatment but did not make it. The official reason is not yet known, but Jack was very sure about what he thought. I am not going to repeat that, but his liver was shot.

Can we all raise a glass to him over Christmas,
On On, El Rave

Cambridge Hash House Harriers

My dear friend Simon.

I hope this message reaches you. You were there at my lowest ebb and gave support and hope, there is no way I can thank you enough. Those who know, know.

You have left us too soon and will be greatly missed, especially by me. Cockpit is waiting for you to pour her a drink and celebrate the good times.

On on my good friend. Until we meet again. Fannyrat

---

So very sad, we've lost a great character. I can still hear his chuckle and laugh....BS

---

I didn't know B@stard very well, but he was certainly a character and his loss will be felt deeply. PB

---

That indeed is very sad news! On On Klinger

---

I'm sad but not overly surprised to hear this.
When he was on form B@stard was the life and sole of the Hash.
I shall raise a few for my friend this evening.
Onwards Calapso

This is very sad news indeed, B@stard was a huge character in the hash and will sorely missed.

I first met B@stard 20 years ago when I joined the hash as a wee 30-something and he was an absolute blast to run, drink and laugh with. He picked on me relentlessly when he was RA and then GM and I loved every second of his humour and his immortal line “never let the truth get in the way of a good story”.

Simon “B@stard” Bellow

I am so glad that many of us spent time with him recently at the AGPU, fed him (too much) beer and laughed with him one last time – right up until his bruising fight with the pavement!

I will not be at the hash this Sunday so I am sure the Grand and Spare Mattresses will lead the tributes. I will remember him in silence at 11am and raise a glass to him at 1pm and hope all those not in the circle can join me in spirit (or with a pint as B@stard would have done).

On-i-On to the great hash in the sky LegOver

---

I think B@stard was my first co hare with the CH3 over 30 years ago so we go back a long way. I'm with him and the hash in spirit if not in person right now. Lightning

---

Sorry to hear sad news. Had only just about forgiven him for locking my car keys in my car at the 2000th run at the Hoops in Barton. Bless him! Big Swinger

---

I am sorry to hear this sad news, I didn't always see eye to eye with him but he was a true hasher and contributed a lot to the hash over the years. ON ON, Ferret

---

The person, other than family, I had kept contact with for almost 61 years. Part of my childhood memories, have spent the afternoon recalling the happy times. On On Bastard Debonaire

---

Sad news and the loss of a true old school Hasher. I spent a lot of time with him and had a drink or twelve at Nash Hash this year. ON ON B@stard. Kermit

Simon “B@stard” Bellow

A sad loss, gone but not forgotten. I will miss his complaining !!
Have fun in Hash Heaven B@stard.
Condolences to his family. WYDT

---

R.I.P. Simon I'll have a couple to commemorate your life. You'll be sadly missed.
On Up B@stard. With a tear in my eye. R.I.P . you commendable fellow Hasher.
This was my last experience with Simon B@stard. May all memories live forever.

On On Sperm Whale 🐳

Simon B@stard at his best.

Simon touched many hearts ❤️ and aggravated many more 🙄.
I feel a B@stard Memorial run is required. I'll talk again with Jack ... details to follow,

Simon “B@stard” Bellow

It'll Come Off 🙄

Saddened to hear this news! From my first run with CH3, B@stard introduced himself and made me feel welcome and from every visit on. Will miss his banter, stories and songs and the giggles. Without a doubt the Cambridge Hash family was a big part of his life and enjoyment, and he was a big character in it.
OnOn B@stard!

Very sad news. He was a bloody legend & we will raise a glass for him. Had some of my best hash laughs with him. On on.

Woody hollow, Fit but dim & Just give me one

Very sad news, I'll be raising a glass to B*stard this evening. He'll be very much missed but I'm sure many have great memories of him in all his years as a hasher. Horny

---

Horrible sad news. B@stard was a larger than life character, a huge personality. We had some good laughs together. I'll never watch him watching my tits again.

On on B@stard, I'll be having a drink to you tonight, Sue (Sox)

Simon "B@stard" Bellow

Our condolences to all those who mourn this guy who lived life 'Full Throttle'.

As you've all said Bastard was a character larger than life, full of laughter, jokes, moans, yet had all those health complexities which he had to contend with.

Sad that a member of our Hash family has gone to rest but I'm glad he's at peace with our other Hash family above. Sleep tight Simon and thank you for the fun time's 😊,

Calamity and Wimp. Xx

Very sad news about Simon "B@stard" Bellow, a CH3 stalwart with nearly 800 runs (or walks). I will raise a glass or three in memory of him. RIP.

On On Pedro

---

B@stard I will miss you my friend. By now you will have already got wasted with Bunter and probably thrown out of a few places too. Wherever you are.

Keep Onwards you old bugger Calapso

It's sad to hear this news.

I'll always remember B@stard as one of the biggest characters on the hash and one of the best drinking buddies I've ever had.

Getting the booze out right now for a toast.

RIP B@stard.

On On

Leaning against the bar in the Rad a long, long time ago, B@stard and I were roundly admonished that night by Bunter for being fine? but poorly presented hashers.

The reward?

A couple of London Pride T-Shirts.

I still have mine and shall always remember Mr. B@stard, friend and boozing mate, as a superb intellect trapped in a hashing body....and a faded London Pride T-Shirt.....

R.I.P. B@stard

So says Shammy from Belfast.

Simon “B@stard” Bellow

My fondest memory of Mr. B@stard, was, along with him, leaning against the bar in the Rad, being awarded London Pride T-Shirts by Bunter for 'Services to Hashing'.

I still have that shirt, and will forever have that B@stard in my heart.

R.I.P. to an old mate and regular lunchtime companion.

So says Shammy.

---

So sorry to hear of Simon's death, a true hasher and thoroughly charming man.

Ettles x

Whilst I have limited history of B@stard I do remember once being very impressed by his amazing ability, at 3.00am to get lost less than 100yards from his hotel!! Now it takes a genius to do that.....or did I miss something???

Regardless, a sad loss but I'm sure already well established with "the Great Hash in the Sky".

My glass is raised, cheers and farewell.

Smeghead

We all have our memories of bastard

I have many
Travelling the Mekong in Cambodia
Walking the spey valley way
Visiting the Orangutan orphanage in Borneo.

he was always a great travelling companion.
Before his mistress drink turned into his jailer his breadth and depth of knowledge was impressive.

I am proud to call him a friend

Bon voyage old buddy

Sad news indeed. A huge personality.
Rest in peace, Simon

On-I-on

Catherine the Cake

---

Sad news. Rest easy Bastard.

Johnboy

RIP B@stard. There was a glorious period a few years ago, when the kids were doing swimming lessons at the beehive centre.... At The Same Time.

N and I obviously took the opportunity to sprint to the Geldart for a swift one. We often encountered B@stard in there, propping up the bar with his mate Phil (? The book seller).

Always welcoming and happy to chat 😊

I too remember the full moon hashes... Happy days.

A proper character who will be remembered fondly.

Lisa Bailey

Poor ol' Simon. V sad. We will have a bevvy in his honour tonight.

Xxx

Claire McGregor

That's very sad. I will make sure we have a drink to B@stard today.

Thanks for letting us know.

Spooks x

---

We held a minute's silence for B@stard at tonight's TTHHH, and drank to him at the circle in the Wrestlers.

He's sadly missed.

Simon “B@stard” Bellow

So sorry to hear this. B@stard was a hasher through and through. For about ten years he never missed a River Run, and he always came in last - an achievement he was quite proud of. There will never be another like him. RIP.

Alex Zeffertt

Sad news indeed. Bustard was the founder of the fmck full moon hash, running out of the Geldart, and I will always remember his call for a full moon photo at the end of each hash. He will be long remembered for his awesome sense of humour! FF

I will raise a glass to him later.

On on for the hash this evening.

Helen Lemons

---

Oh my word I am in shock. So sorry to hear that and to you as a good friend of his. I haven't seen you both for a long while now but that is a massive shock. Such a good guy Bastard. I hope you and all those close to him are ok. I shall raise a glass to him with fond memories of hilarious times.

Best wishes Lou lou

IndoNostalgia Hash House Harriers

For those of you who aren't also in the Cambridge Hash Group, Simon B@stard Bellow died a few days ago. As you can see from the attachment he will be sadly missed by us all. He has been a regular on IndoNostalgia since 2011 and his tasteless renditions of hash classics such as “sit on my face” are etched on our hash memories, however hard we try and forget them! A good friend and fellow hasher RIP B@stard/

On-up! Jetstream & Unmentionable

---

Thanks for the sad information, Jetstream

A real shock. I liked him very much and he will be missed on our Exiles Circles.

Will raise a glass to him this evening ..... although I can hear him say... ‘Why not now?’

Froggy

A great character, and he will certainly be missed by many (including me!)

I'll be raising a couple of glasses of Belgium's finest!

Sad news indeed....i,m sorry now for stealing his crisps in the bar at the Devils

Punchbowl..and i,d promised i,d buy him some more next hash meet.....i will do that...and share them around...in his name...!

RIP..Simon..

Respects....konkorde

I am so sad to hear this news.

I have many fond memories of the times I have been in his company in many different places from Cambridge to Bali and wherever else hashers roam.

He was a wonderful character, always good company and a pleasure to be with.

Recently we were in Winchester where he had booked his hotel on the wrong dates (how could that be possible?) but fortunately I had a spare bed in my room which I willingly offered to him.

Simon “B@stard” Bellow

RIP B@stard. Indeed a gentleman.

Would someone please pass my sincere condolences to Jack? The Penguin

---

What a shock.

Please keep me informed of funeral arrangements, please? McJeckyll/McHyde
