Who just farted?

Fannyrat always smiles when he farts.

ZZzzzzzzzz
(dribble|)!!

BParp!

For some of us it was a sparrow fart start, a quick cycle to Cambridge to catch a lift with Double Top, Debonaire, Three Swallows and B@stard. Fortunately DT has heard a traffic alert saying the A10 was closed north of Cambridge due to an overturned car, so the Sat Nave was quizzed and a route via the A14/Warboys was chosen. This however, took us down some interesting roads including one where more than 5 miles an hour had us rear passengers thinking we were in a bouncy castle. After a few more single track roads we arrived at Benwick in sunshine.

The pack was already assembling and swelled in number by several 'returnees', Squeak, Sperm Whale, Gorilla, (An Oxford comma) and Chimp. (Yes I've just been reading an Inspector Morse novel).

Fannyrat demonstrated the symbols including an additional centre spot for a checkback then carefully explained the trail was up the road then right just by the playground sign. Fit but Dim lived up to his name and went steaming past said sign only to realize the pack wasn't following him. After a small loop we arrived back at the pub. The walkers were seen ambling up the road out of the village but the pack was convinced this couldn't be the right way so checked out every other possibility before deciding 'well lets follow the walkers'.

The trail then headed out into the countryside, Muff Diver was seen on the horizon whilst the rest of the pack veered left along another track where Hold it for me watered one of the few trees around. He was duly awarded a down-down for this in the Circle.

The trail continued past a house where several Hashers commented the trail usually goes down that track, but the pack continued to follow the dust and the front runners were confronted by the punctuated checkback. Yes, the actual trail went down the track by the house (which was selling 'Corettes' are these the Fen cousins of courgettes?) Then on to the beer stop hosted by Cockpit, not as several people commented tucked in amongst the straw bales like last time when the rain was horizontal and felt like little needles. But we were treated to a demonstration of 'haystack building' by a tractor and lift trailer. The row of bales became a stack as the trailer lifted.

The run in was alongside the river much to the disgust of the fishermen who were in a competition, doubt whether they caught much while we were running past.

The pub was welcoming with a good choice of beer and a selection of filled rolls.

Several awards were given in the Circle: Debonaire for 900 runs, Daffy explained her first run was 484 and that two other hashers started on run 483, Dave the Rave who has completed 373 runs and F1 who has only managed 42. Double Top was awarded her '300 runs map' and Potty gave Kermit and embellished mirror?

Down downs:

The awardees and the returnees

Woody Hollow and Fit but Dim for their rendition of 'Hey Kids I'm a paedophile' to the tune of Green sleeves. (Ice cream vans will never be the same again).

Just give me one for working up a thirst in the US but being far too young to imbibe.

Run 1862 - Cambridge Railway Station, Cambridge

Hare - Jetstream, Unmentionable and Taxidermist

Scribe - Three Swallows

Operation Seagull

How I made it to the coach for 8am at the station was a miracle as I was still pissed from a heavy gin and T session. So I was pleased to see B@STARD who was as usual pissed as well. The coach ride was very pleasant anticipating where we were all going. Eventually we arrived at a car park in Holme on Sea. Horray. We assembled onto the beach which was miles of sand dunes, the sea was a gorgeous blue and the sun was shining; how perfect. After group photos and lots of me and KERMIT wearing traditional bathing suits we set off.

The trail was laid by JET STREAM UNMENTIONABLE, TAXI and BEAR. The walkers had a slow amble through the dunes. I have no idea what the runners did. TAXI in charge of us had no idea where we were supposed to be going, but by instinct we trudged on through a woodland and out onto the beach again, when in the distance against the shimmering heat of the day a mirage appeared it was BLOWBACK, LITTLE BLOW and baby DELILAH they could be seen with a lifesaving drinks stop. WHILE YOUR DOWN THERE being fussy like she is wanted a lager or gin and T but had to make do with real beer along with POTTY.

A group of nice fit virgins on a stag do were part of the hash for the day. The main man wearing half police officer uniform and a lovely flowery skirt, he looked gorgeous. PAPARAZI was in heaven taking photos of a man in half uniform.

Still at the drinks stop a few brave ones went for a swim. It was like a scene from Bay Watch with all those fit lovely bodies rippling and shining in the sun, in some cases to be honest were wobbling in the sun. Rumour had it that DEBONAIRE was swimming topless. So I checked to see if this was true only to be fooled by JUST GIVE IT TO ME who was wearing a nude coloured bra. It looked like she had no nipples but DEBONAIRE made up for that with her massive ones and she wasn't topless. I personally didn't go in the sea neither B@STARD as we couldn't be bothered to take off our trainers.

After the swim we all headed back on trail which took us to the mystery pub; The Life Boat in Thornham. So that's where we were, owned by Marco Pierre White a 3 star Michelin chef. We had a massive burger with chips and salad apart from our only vegetarian BENGHAZI who had a massive battered cod. Singing drunkenly loud PUGWASH lowered the tone of the restaurant a bit, how common can one be and drinking from a pottery fish.

The circle as usual was excellent with DAFIDILDO and DEBONAIRE doing there bit. EL RAVE staged a magnificent real life scene from D day with the boys from the stag do reenacting it to perfection. A Lancaster Bomber with spinning umbrellas, sounds effects and water pistols. By now PAPARAZI had swapped uniforms with the police officer, promising that she would give him her pink fairy wings the next time she saw him. Other downers were given and everyone went back on the piss. Some taking the piss when most of us sat on the coach waiting to leave with the coach driver honking his horn to round up the strays. KLINGER one of them.

The journey home was pleasant with lots of singing and laughter. BEAR and SPERM WHALE were sitting on opposite sides of the coach so we didn't topple over. On the subject of BEAR who by the way thinks that I'm a bit of an arsehole from Essex and a bit dim. But still we would all like to say a big thank you for organising a brilliant day out at the seaside. Getting back to the coach there was a big problem, there was no bloody beer left so we had to detox for a couple of hours. We arrived back at Cambridge station sober and by now PAPARAZI had gone completely crazy into police action alongside DEBONAIRE. They demanded that all the fit men must spread eagle as they needed to be searched. They were thoroughly frisked with proper good handfuls. COR.

We then all said our goodbyes and made our way home. I must of looked a right proper twat you no walking over Hills road bridge wearing my Victorian swim suit with genuine red rapper hat and sun glasses. But I didn't really care, like everyone; I'd had a well-chilled day with excellent company, the sea and sand, and thanks to the R.A for sun and blue skies. One last thing before I go. A short message I received from Punch the Puppet for PAPARAZI. That's the way to do it. And between me and her, I swore not to tell no one we know who's got the biggest willy: All I can say coming from Essex is "NEVA SHUT UP".
